Development Background

While the sunscreen market keeps expanding year by year, in 2013 the PA indicator expressing the effects of UV care expanded from three stages to four stages, and UV care products became a popular topic. Various surveys have reported that interest in UV hair care among women is increasing. Day-Summer Mist, released last year by Milbon as a UV care product for the hair, offers not only a UV care function, but also a refreshing fragrance and a silky texture that have been highly rated in the market.

To meet the growing interest among women in UV care, we have developed the Deesse's Day flower UV mist, which in addition to incorporating the hair industry's highest UV care values of SPF50+ and PA++++, also has a silky texture and boasts a range of fragrances to choose from.

Product Overview

Deesse's Day flower UV mist

1. Product Concept

A UV treatment mist for the hair that combines ease of care with silky texture and some great fragrances, while still protecting color design.

2. Product Features

- 1) Our own proprietary UV-cutting technology is used to achieve a SPF50+ and PA++++ UV-cutting effect, imparting ease and comfort of use while suppressing white powdery finish and stickiness.
- Double oil formulation (a combination of tiare care oil & acaí oil) offers cuticle care with a smooth, light texture and helps prevent hair expanding in humid conditions.
- Select from a lineup of three fragrances
